College Mathematics Exponential Growth/Decay Continued

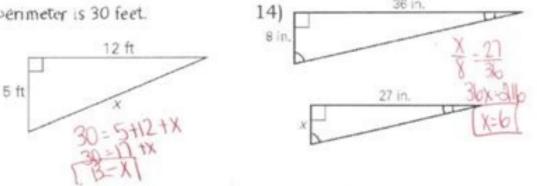

When a real-life quantity increases or decreases by a fixed rate EACH year (or other time period), the amount y of the quantity after t years can be modeled by the equation y = a[1 ± r]* where a is the initial amount and r is the percent increase/decrease expressed as a decimal. Note that the quantity 1 ± r is the growth/decay factor.

- In 1970, the population of Kern County, California was about 330,000. From 1970 to 2000, the county population grew at an average annual rate of about 2.4%.
 - Write an exponential growth model giving the population P of Kern County t years after 1970.
 - Predict what the population should be in 2005 according the model you just created.
- 2) In the exponential growth model $y = 527(1.39)^s$, identify the initial amount, the growth factor, and the percent increase.
- 3) A new car costs $25,000. The value of the car decreases by 15% each year.
- a) Write an exponential decay model giving the car's value y (in dollars) after t years.
- b) Estimate the value of the car after 4 years.

HOMEWORK

- In 1990, the population of Austin, Texas, was 494,290. During the next 10 years, the population increased by about 3% each year.
 - a) Write a model giving the population P (in thousands) of Austin t years after 1990.
- b) What was the population in 2000?

- II. Write and solve an equation to answer the question: About 2/5 of students partcipate in sports and drama. In what size school would you expect to find 330 students in sports and drama?
- 25 330 S= 835 students 12) You purchased 8 copies of a poster and paid $79.60. How much did eac poster
- II. Find the length of the side marked x.
- 13) The perimeter is 30 feet.
